I think, if not from a legal perspective, at least for clarity, the presentation and staff report should say the same thing. EQC must make a motion to adopt the rules. It will have to be very clearly and specifically worded to be clear exactly what document the motion is referring to. If the motion is to adopt the rules in Attachment A1, is that that attachment to the slides or the staff report? If there are multiple versions of rules or staff reports, the motion will have to be extra clear to make sure what documents, exhibits, or attachments it is referring to when moving to adopt the rules with the revisions.

The last slide in EQC presentation is this:

Recommendation

DEQ recommends that the Environmental Quality Commission:

Adopt the proposed rules in attachment A1, including the addendum, as part of chapter 340 of the Oregon Administrative Rules.

Since it specifically mentions the addendum, are we covered?

I am concerned that the way we are presenting the revisions in the temporary rules to EQC could result in them not being legally adopted.

The original staff report recommends that EQC adopt the original rules in Attachment A. Unless we change something, EQC will adopt the original rules without the revisions in the addendum.

We need to either:

- Change the recommendation in the original staff report to propose that EQC adopt the rules in Attachment A along with the revisions in the addendum, or
- Substitute the revised rules, that include the amendments, that I included with my revised version of the staff report, for the current version of the rules in the original attachment A
- Place my revised staff report, with the revised rules and the addendum, before EQC so they vote on and adopt the revised rules
