Andrea –

It looks like the site is working the way it was intended. I just didn't know the new process.

Hi, Maggie, OCO is now managing all site content on the SharePoint sites, so please contact them with your change requests. I've made this current change for you today.

It appears that you deleted the documents library, but I first thought the site was created without using the rulemaking SharePoint template. I restored the document folders and I replaced all the documents with the ones from the blank site.
