Good morning, Sara –

I am sending this email as an informal notification that as part of a larger contracting effort, Chevron is currently in the process of transitioning OR sites from Arcadis to AECOM (including Astoria). We are scheduling meetings to meet with the new AECOM team and will prepare and send an official letter to ODEQ when the transition is finalized. Officially, AECOM begins work on 11/24/24, but there will be some trailing items/reports that Arcadis will be finishing up through the end of January 2025.

Looking at our schedules and the upcoming rotation change (Brian and AECOM), we are looking out to the beginning of next year to schedule a meeting. This should give everyone an opportunity to come up to speed a bit.

Please contact me if you have questions or comments. We hope to see you and meet Brian early 2025.

Thank you,
Tim

Eric,
Thank you for your patience on getting this scheduled. My rotation with Cleanup will be ending with the new year, so I wanted to make sure your new PM, Brian Church, would be available to sit in on this meeting as well so we have a smooth transition. It looks like we all have exactly one hour available on 11/19 at 1pm if that time works for you. Otherwise, the first week in December look a little more promising - December 1st at 10 am or 1pm or December 4th at 11am.

Thanks,

Hi Sara,

I hope you're doing well! Reaching out to coordinate schedules for a meeting to discuss the RI and Preliminary CSM for the site now that we're getting data back from the In-Water portion of the work. Based on the upcoming holidays and our turnaround time with processing the data to get draft tables and figures together, we were thinking the week of 11/18 might be ideal. Are you available for an in-person meeting early that week? We can always make something happen virtually if that works better for schedules too.

Get back to me when you can. Thanks!
