Better hold off on that, Meyer. We are delayed for 2 weeks to take public comment and then we'll go to April EQC.
Thanks,
Jill

Unless someone tells me otherwise, I will file the rules and do a GovDelivery in the morning to the rulemaking list, which is about 6700 people.

We will issue a news release today. I will send the draft to Meyer.
I think Greg Svelund will be managing the execution.
It will be posted on the Oregon Newroom, social media and on the joint agency air toxics website: saferair.oregon.gov
I am out of the office, but addicted to my email.

We think there are about 5 affected facilities but Jaclyn may have a more comprehensive list. If so, they should be included. We have notified these 5 facilities (Chris - can you please notify your North Star contact person if they haven't already been notified?). I'm not sure about the other communication pieces. Jennifer?

For GovDelivery, I'd use people interested in rulemaking. I don't think it needs to go to all permitted facilities since most of them are not affected. Any objections?
Thanks for doing this,
Jill

As I understand it EQC will adopt temporary air toxics rules today. The law requires us to provide notice to affected parties after adopting temporary rules. I normally send out a GovDelivery notice, and request facebook and twitter postings, and a news release. In this case, how much of that am I expected to do and how much is already being done by other people?

If I am going to do a GovDelivery notice, someone should tell me which topics to send to in addition to rulemaking, and who wants to review the notice before I send it.

Thanks.
