I think we need someone to make phone calls to the few large-ish glass makers outside Portland that were identified, and find out if they're above 5 tpy.

Nothing definitive because we don't have information on how much colored glass any of them make. If glass production is available, it's total glass (including non-colored), so that doesn't help. Best guess is 0 to 2, but that's truly a guess.

Hi George and Jaclyn,

Did we get any additional info on 'are there CAGMs outside PDX that would be subject to the rule'?

Leah thought the EQC will likely ask about this.
