Joe,

That sounds fine to me but I do have a concern about responding to public comments in August. George and I will be preparing for policy forums and the advisory committee meetings that start in September and run through November so I'm guessing we will have limited time to respond to comments. I have no idea how many comments we will get but if it's anything like what we got on the temporary rule, it will take a while. We had two weeks to respond to the temporary rule comments and that was 3-4 people working pretty full time on them.

Thanks,
Jill

Subject: art glass permanent rule- delay public comment start to 7/15?
Importance: High

Hi Leah, Jill and Emil,

I've been trying to schedule a 2nd fiscal advisory committee meeting for this Friday or coming Monday. I have a date when 5 of 8 members could make it, but it's very short notice for the public (day after tomorrow, now) and unfortunately Bullseye still may not be able to attend. I talked with Eric Durrin and he is going to get back to me on whether he has another person to attend on behalf of Bullseye.

Alternatives:

1. Go ahead and schedule 2nd fiscal adv comm meeting for Friday, try to get Bullseye to send a person, but deal with media criticism on the late notice, especially if Bullseye does not send someone.
2. Don't hold 2nd fiscal adv comm meeting, move ahead with public notice period starting 6/15
3. Delay the public notice period start until 7/15 to make more time for the fiscal adv comm to meet. This would leave less time to process the public comment before going to the EQC. Not clear if Bullseye would be able to attend even if we delayed it.

I'm thinking #3 is our best option. Rather than rush for a meeting on Friday, I can try to schedule a 2nd fiscal adv comm meeting a few weeks out. That gives me time to do the health impact calcs requested by the committee, to try to find a time when Bullseye can make it, and to give the public plenty of notice of the meeting. I've already been talking about 6/15 as the start of the public comment period, but we could rightfully say that we delayed it because the fiscal adv comm requested a 2nd meeting.

Are you OK with option #3?

-Joe

Schedule if we push the public comment period start back to 7/15:

PL RGL	Start preview period for leadership team review of notice packet	4.5 mos.	6/30/2016
RGL	FILE NOTICE with SOS - open comment period - no later than 15th of the month (min. 120 days before EQC)	4 mos.	7/15/2016
RGL	Notice published in Oregon Bulletin - 1st of the month the month after filing notice	3.5 mos.	8/1/2016
PL	Public hearing - min. 30 days after comment opens - 17 days after Bulletin Notice	3 mos.	8/18/2016
RGL PL	close public comment	3 mos.	8/22/2016
PL	Staff report due to EQCC - 5 weeks before EQC meeting	5 wks.	9/13/2016
PL	EQC MEETING	0	10/18/2016

Who would be there if we did have the meeting this Friday:

7 participants	June 2016 Fri 3			Mon 6
	10:30 AM – 12:30 PM	1:00 PM – 3:00 PM	2:00 PM – 4:00 PM	9:00 AM – 11:00 AM	3:00 PM – 5:00 PM
