They said the document was designed as a living document for continued review and use.

Council thanked the Committee the work put into the document. They said they appreciated the links with funding options.

Councilor Richardson, also Chair of the Climate Resiliency Committee, thanked the whole committee. He said it was a diverse group. He said they were proud of the document and hoped Council would adopt the report and direct staff to identify action.

It was move by Long and seconded by McGlothlin to table action on the report until May 8, 2023. The motion carried 5 to 0; Long, McGlothlin, Randall, Richardson, Runyon in favor; none opposed.

The Dalles Area Chamber of Commerce Tourism Year end Update

Lisa Farquharson, CEO/President The Dalles Area Chamber of Commerce reviewed the report that was part of the agenda packet.

Farquharson thanked City Staff for all the work done in preparation for the Cherry Festival; cleaning up the 1st Street parking lot and placing all the road closed and parade signs. She said the town looked great.

She touched on:

- Lodging: following national trends; predicted to exceed the 2019 and 2022 numbers.
- Fam Tours: goal is at least one tour per quarter; creating the relationship provides discounts on advertising and articles in publications. Multiple Regional Bass tournaments are being booked in The Dalles due to Wild Bass being televised.
- Datafy: Continue training to full utilization. 5 week campaign using digital outlets determined by Datafy; will create a dashboard including: impressions, engagement, and clicks with demographics of each user.
- New Markets: Cherry Festival trial with Spotify and AudioGo. Results will help to determine how to help other local events.
- Website: Explore The Dalles site constantly being updated; videos, itineraries.
- Tourism Event Grants: (funded through the TRT funds) 17 event grant awarded -

- $29,500 directly invested back into community.
- Token Wall: still very active and visitors love it.

Future:

- RFP for Video Story Telling and new commercial for The Dalles to begin in June and continue through the next fiscal year.
- Grant for Systemic support with diversity, equity, and inclusion training opportunities, translation, messaging and communications with focus on local Latinx business community.

Farquharson reviewed the proposed budget for FY 23-24:

FY 22-23 – total budget $426,702

FY 23-22 – total budget $439,630

Increase of 4% on six items not every item.

National Inflation – 8.7%

Oregon Inflation – 5%

AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION

“Darcy” from The Dalles, Oregon said it was her believe that the decisions made by City Council were hurting the community. She said the saying “If you build it they will come” applies to the things being done for the homeless in The Dalles. She said people are being taught they are intitled without working for anything.

She said the current District Attorney (DA) gave a report to the Council at their last meeting. She said the DA didn’t address the rising crime rate in The Dalles, or how many cases are going to trial. Police officer moral is at an all-time low, causing officers to leave the force due to lack of prosecution.

She asked Council to make an abrupt about face on these projects. Saying no one wants to have another Portland or Seattle.

CITY MANAGER REPORT

City Manager Matthew Klebes reported:

- Met with Library Board, productive and spirited meeting, resulting in path to move forward

Developing Climate Resilience in Wasco County

April 2023

The Dalles - Wasco County Joint Ad Hoc Climate Resiliency Committee

Necessity

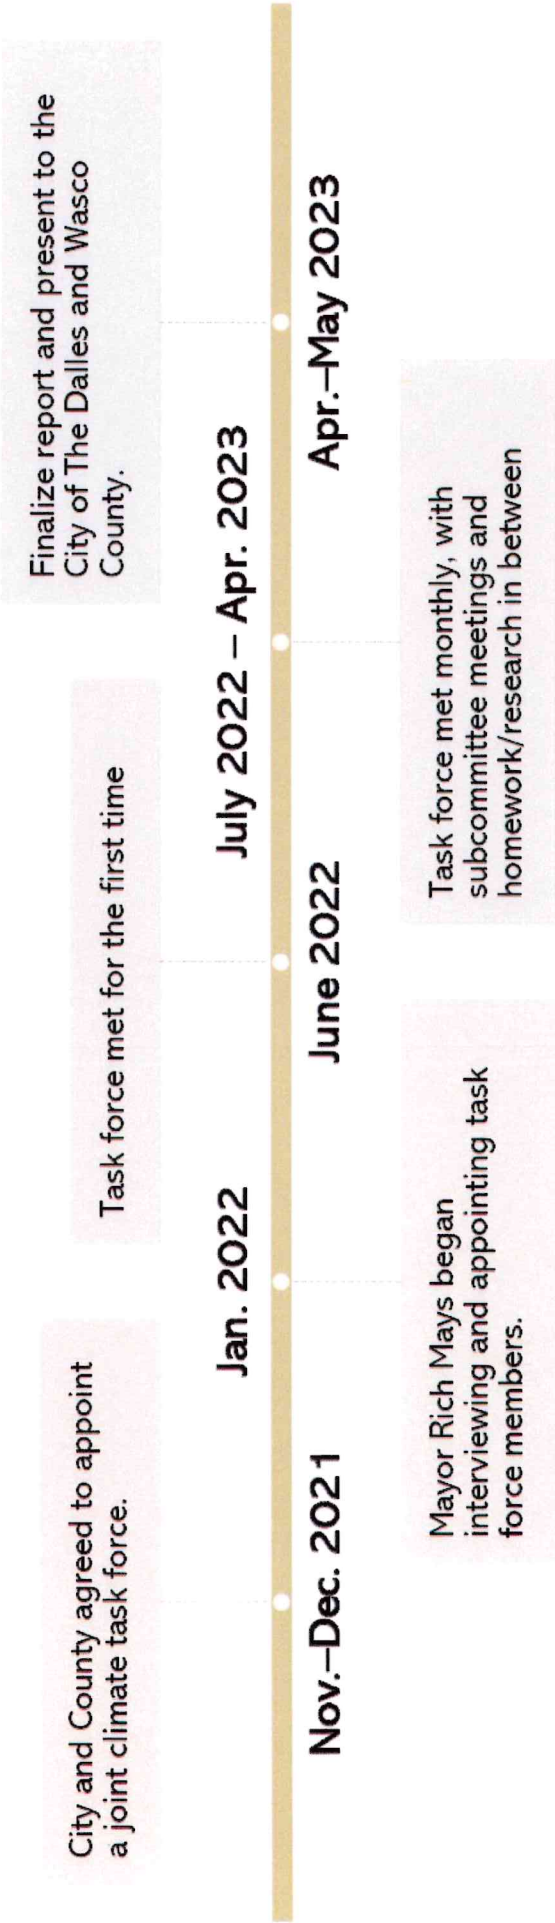

Our community is already experiencing the effects of climate change.

Opportunity

Responding to local climate stress is an opportunity to build a healthier, more resilient community.

Committee History

The Mission of the Climate Resiliency Committee is to address the increasing impacts of climate change; we will recommend local, affordable, and achievable actions and strategies to the City of The Dalles and Wasco County.

The Process

- We researched what is already happening in our community.
- We researched what other communities have done.
- We drafted an extensive list of possible actions.
- We researched funding opportunities.

Then we compiled it into the Recommendations For Action.

THE PROBLEM:

Greenhouse gas emissions have far-reaching environmental and human health impacts.

Greenhouse gas emissions

We value efficient use of energy

- Conduct energy audits of City/County facilities
- Explore a local incentive fund for residential/commercial solar installations and electrification

Greenhouse gas emissions

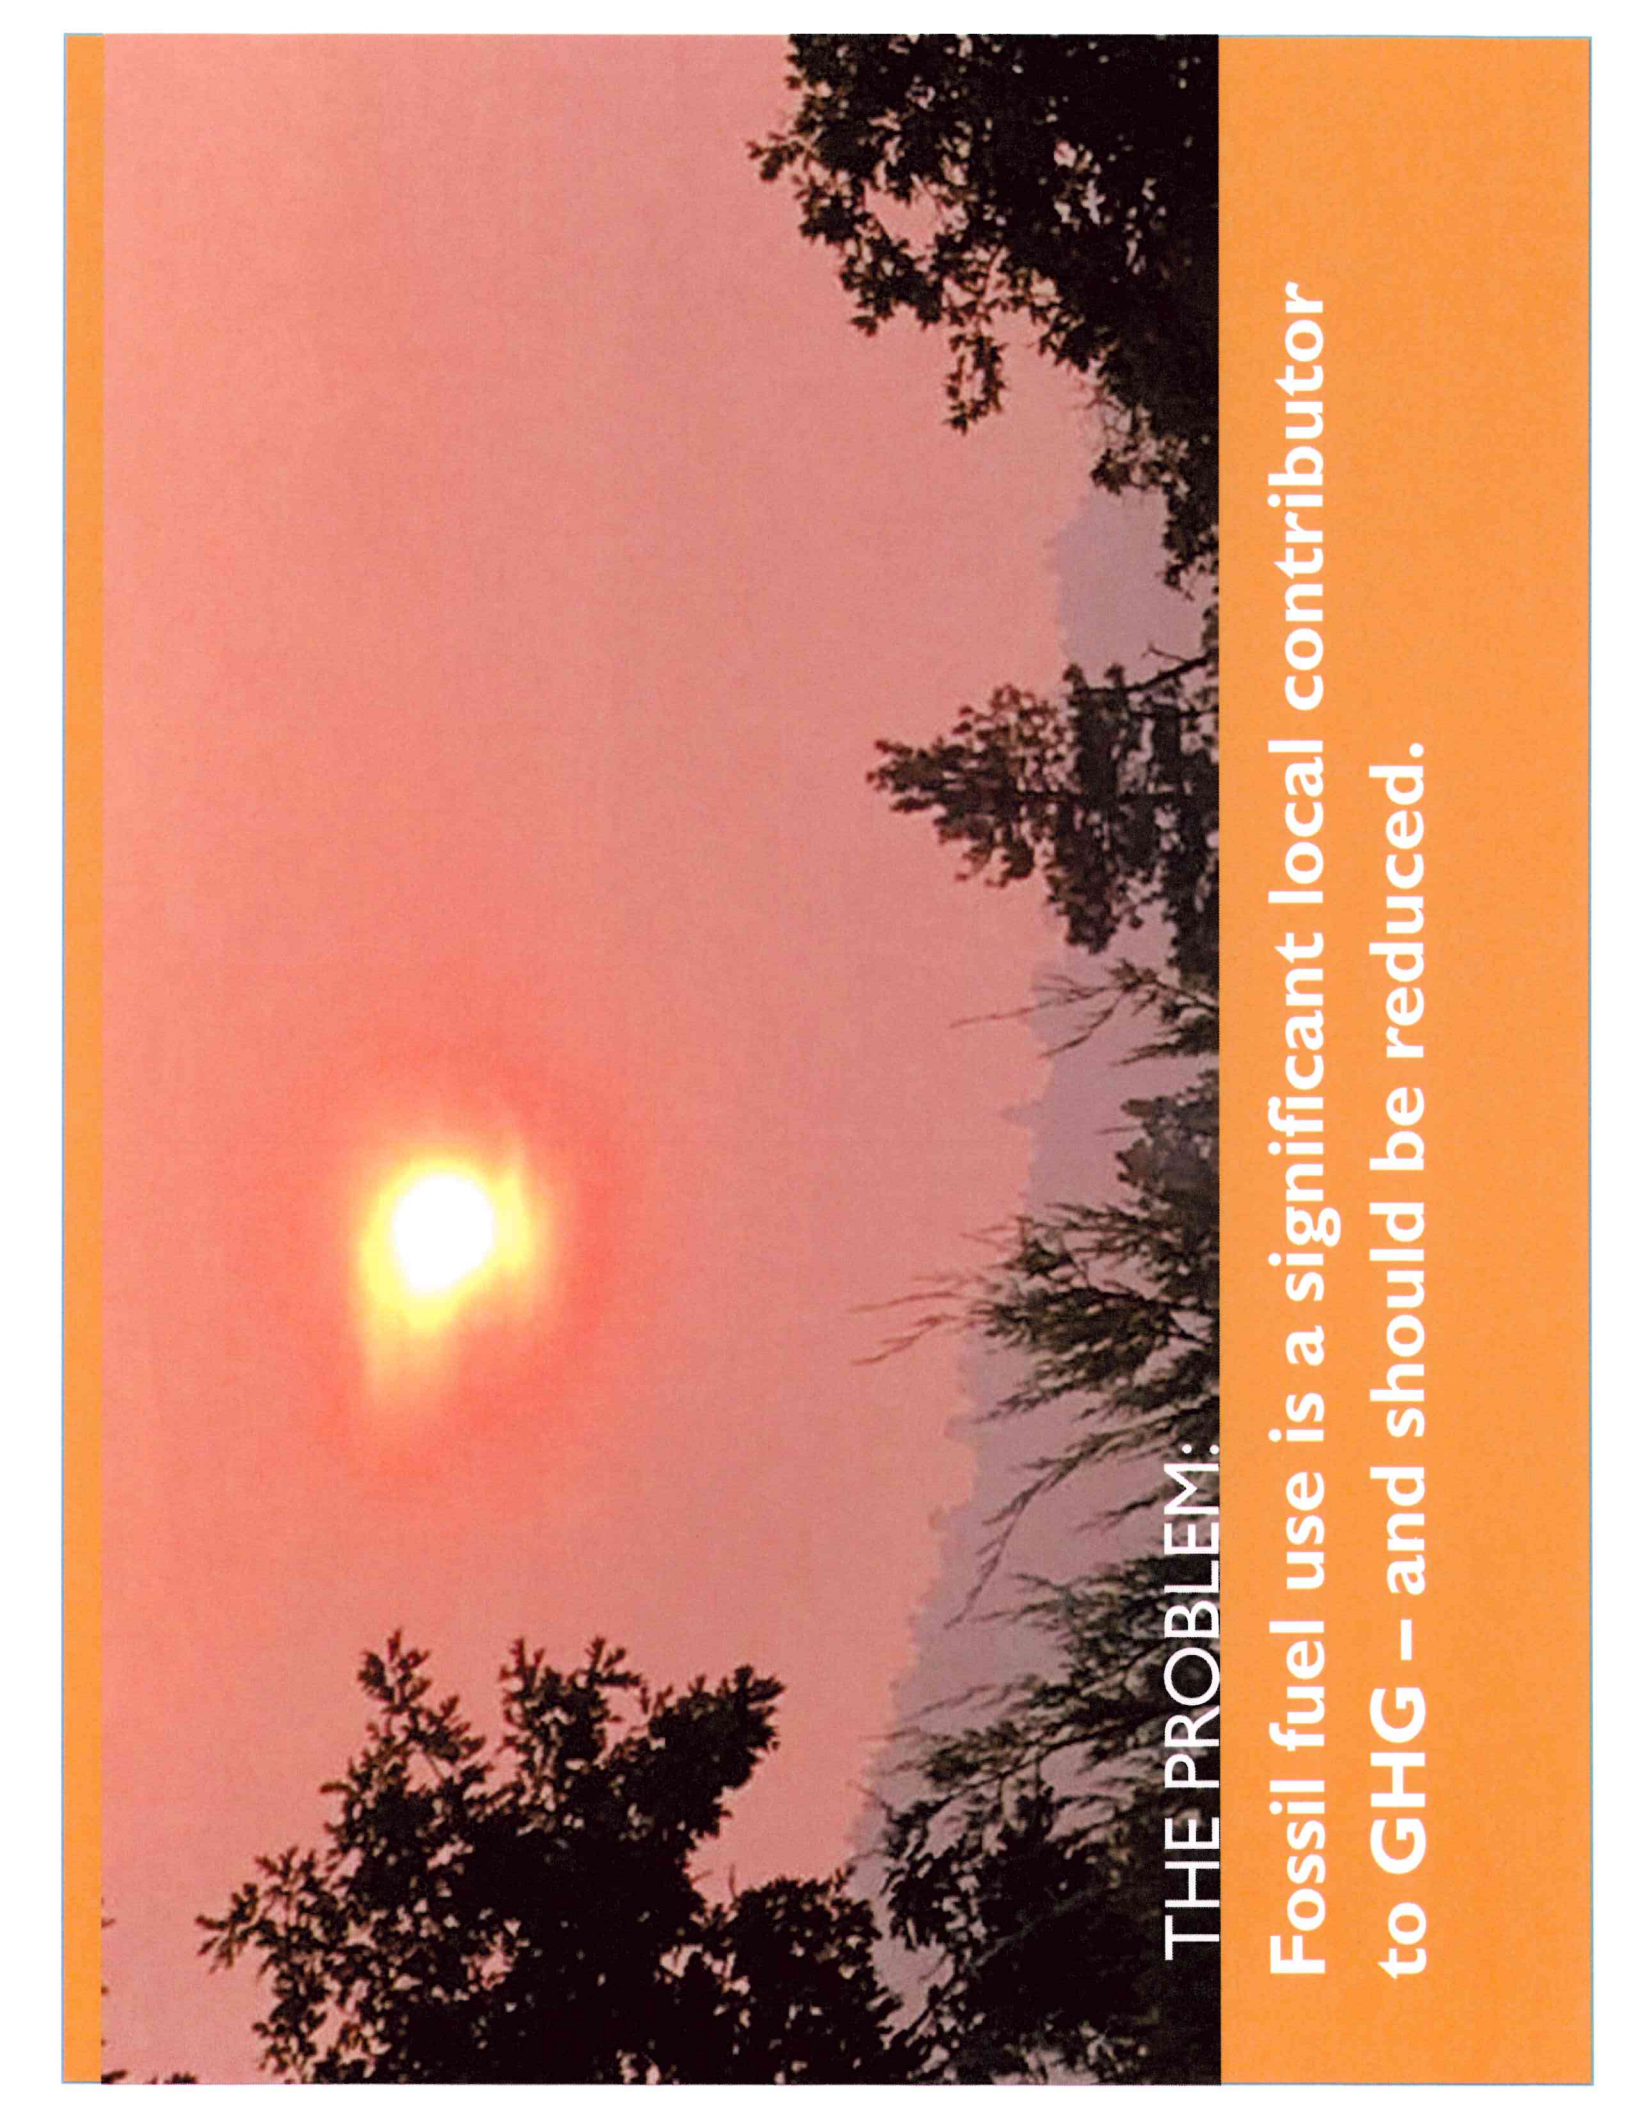

We value efficient use of energy

- Conduct energy audits of City/County facilities
- Explore a local incentive fund for residential/commercial solar installations and electrification

We value reducing our GHG emissions

- Develop a formal, technically informed, community-wide climate action plan
- Consider directing staff to focus on funding opportunities for local climate action

THE PROBLEM:

Fossil fuel use is a significant local contributor to GHG – and should be reduced.

Fossil fuel use

We value alternative fuel sources that can support a thriving community and economy.

- Provide strategically placed recharging stations and priority parking for electric vehicles – both public and agency fleets

Fossil fuel use

We value alternative fuel sources that can support a thriving community and economy.

- Provide strategically placed recharging stations and priority parking for electric vehicles – both public and agency fleets.

We value encouraging multiple types of transportation to reduce fuel dependence and promote local air quality.

- Prioritize multi-modal transportation and links to trails/paths.

THE PROBLEM:

The built environment can both generate a large percentage of GHG emissions, and offer opportunities to buffer climate impacts.

The built environment

We value a built environment that is both resilient to extreme weather and minimizes GHG emissions.

- Identify solutions for reducing built environment emissions starting with city/county facilities.
- Review local codes and design standards to appropriately support and incentivize programs/actions

THE PROBLEM:

Climate change will result in increasing average temperatures, and erratic and extreme weather events.

Increasing average temperatures

We value safe spaces to congregate that will lower urban heat island effects.

- Increase the tree canopy throughout The Dalles

Increasing average temperatures

We value safe spaces to congregate that will lower urban heat island effects.

- Increase the tree canopy throughout The Dalles

We value other opportunities for reducing GHG emissions.

- Partner with utilities to provide education, incentives for home energy audits, electrification and energy efficiency.

THE PROBLEM:

Ongoing changes – in Northwest climate patterns, natural resource concerns, state and national policies, and local priorities – require continued attention.

Ongoing changes require attention

We value local governments and leaders being diligent on climate change.

- Form a local stakeholder group to explore collaborative policies, outreach and action.
- Schedule regular climate impacts and actions review, involving both staff and elected officials.

Ongoing changes require attention

We value local governments and leaders being diligent on climate change.

- Form a local stakeholder group to explore collaborative policies, outreach and action.
- Schedule regular climate impacts and actions review, involving both staff and elected officials.

We value follow-through on critical issues, starting with water supply.

- Prioritize analysis and funding of water systems.

The good news:
Funding is available that creates a “win-win-win”
for our community.

Win #1: Extending taxpayer dollars

City of The Dalles and Wasco County can leverage a wide range of grant funding, which makes taxpayer dollars go further!

- Oregon Department of Energy – grants to communities of up to $1MM for climate resiliency projects.
- Oregon Department of Transportation - $100MM over next 5 years for public EV charging stations
- The Arbor Day Foundation – up to $20k for community green space
- Climate change education grants available through Oregon Community Foundation, Meyer Memorial Trust and Gray Family Foundation

Win #2: Actionable Recommendations

The recommendations outlined in Developing Climate Resilience in Wasco County can assist local government operations in becoming cleaner, more efficient, and more resilient.

Win #3: Increasing quality of life

By thoughtfully and meaningfully acting on the many opportunities to mitigate climate impacts, we can realize the benefits of efficiency, resilience and improved quality of life for our communities.

Thank you for your consideration.
