5. PRESENTATIONS/PROCLAMATIONS

AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION

Eric Wingbermuehle with Urban SDK company gave a presentation on their software that provides real-time location analytics to help smart cities transform mobility, transportation, sustainability and safety operations. The software connects public agencies, policy makers and the community with better data for informed policy and budgeting decisions.

TSC members were very interested in the information collected. At the end of the presentation Mills told the commission the Public Works Department is currently using a program called RITUS (which stands for Regional Integrated Transportation Information System). RITUS, which is a free version of a program that tracks cars and their movements, similar to the Urban SDK presentation. The program
